

Insurgents Storm Tortosa to Widen Gains on Coastline

Franco's Military Machine
Moves Forward to Occupy
Additional Territory in the Strategic Catalan Sector

32-Mile Front

Insurgent Spearhead Spreads to Take in Fertile Valley of Ebro River

With the Insurgents before Tortosa, April 19 (AP)—Large detachments of government troops, including international brigade units, were captured south of Tortosa today after Ebro river bridges were dynamited by the government to hold back the insurgent movement to encircle the strategic South Catalan city.

General Garcia Valino's Navarrese Legionnaires occupied the suburbs of Tortosa and the right bank of the Ebro; then started to cut off the city proper, where the government massed thousands of its best shock troops.

Insurgent officers said international troops formed the backbone of the government defense and that the Catalonians themselves offered little resistance to the insurgent drive toward Barcelona, 95 miles to the northeast. Occupation of the fertile rice-growing Delta region at the mouth of the Ebro river by General Valino's troops and the continued advance southward from Benicarlo of General Miguel Aranda's Galician forces toward Valencia widened the insurgent-controlled stretch along the Mediterranean coast to 32 miles.

Heavy Artillery Moved
Generalissimo Francisco Franco was moving his heaviest artillery eastward to support concerted offensives against the government capital at Barcelona and the important seaport of Valencia.

Navarrese troops captured Cherta and Aldove, north of Tortosa.

A large group of international fighters was reported captured in the mountains west of Tortosa, where Legionnaires completed a quick encircling movement in the Sierra De Montenegro, the Sierra De Caro and the Sierra De Las Razas Mountains.

Insurgent tanks and armored cars yesterday drove government defenders from Amposta, at the head of the Ebro river delta, and infantry quickly occupied the town, controlling the river mouth and the south approaches to Tortosa.

General Aranda's division operating in Castellon Province, moving in the direction of Valencia, occupied the towns of Turis and Salsadella.

Legionnaires, who have been besieging the city from Gandesa, executed a quick maneuver against the enemy's flank and captured strategic positions on the highways leading into Tortosa from the west, including Mas de Barberans and Alfara.

Aircraft Defense
The government fighters vainly tried to impede the advance by air attacks, but anti-air artillery protected the maneuver.

Following the line of advance yesterday, I ran into one attack of four enemy planes which swooped down from cloudy skies and tried to machine-gun insurgent columns. Mountain shrubbery provided shelter until the artillery had routed the attackers.

Meanwhile life began to return to normal at Vinaroz and nearby villages under insurgent rule. Children played in the main streets, and old women sat on the doorsteps of their cottages, sewing and watching with wonder the artillery trucks speeding through the town.

Twenty aeroplanes, as ever, waved from balconies their greeting to the insurgent troops being rushed to the front to augment the Catalan drive.

Navy Airplanes

Senate Opponents Attempt to Kill Measure Asking 950
Planes for the Navy

Washington, April 19 (AP)—Senate opponents of the $1,156,000,000 naval expansion bill attempted today to kill an authorization for 950 additional navy airplanes.

Chairman Walsh (D., Mass.) of the Senate naval committee, starting debate on the floor, expressed confidence, however, of overwhelming approval.

Senator Nye (R., N. D.), one of the principal foes, contended that the Navy's present 2,950 planes are sufficient and that land-based aircraft are more effective for defense purposes.

"If new airplanes are built, they should be constructed for the army which has an air force to guard our coasts and naval bases," Nye declared.

A proposed minority report from the naval committee cited testimony by Major General O. Westover, chief of the army air corps, that an increase in naval aircraft would "seriously disturb the existing distribution of the nation's aerial resources."

Harnett Suggests Longer Road Tests

Albany, N. Y., April 19 (AP)—Harder tests for New York state motor vehicle operators and re-examination of older licensed drivers is the aim of State Motor Vehicle Commissioner Charles A. Harnett.

In the interests of safety, Harnett yesterday asked the Constitutional Convention committee of the New York state automobile association to include in its convention program a request for additional money for his bureau.

This money, he asserted, would be used to increase from 12 to 45 minutes the length of the "road tests" now given prospective state drivers.

"The 12-minute road test doesn't spell sense or good judgment," he declared. "If we have more money we could have enough examiners to give a more complete examination."

"To curb accidents," he added, "we must put out better drivers."

Harnett also urged re-examination of drivers, particularly after they have reached the age of 35.

Jack Coogan's Mother Refuses to Tell

Los Angeles, April 19 (AP)—Refusal of 22-year-old Jackie Coogan's mother to disclose the financial status of herself and her husband, Arthur L. Bernstein, presented an obstacle today to counsel for the one-time child film star.

Taking of a deposition from Mrs. Bernstein was scheduled to be resumed late today, but William H. Rains, attorney for Coogan, indicated he might not question her further until he gets a court ruling on whether she should answer certain questions about her present wealth.

Coogan has sued his mother and stepfather for an accounting of his film earnings which he estimates at $4,000,000.

The deposition hearing yesterday, Mrs. Bernstein declined, on advice of her counsel, to answer questions about how much money she and Bernstein have.

Ross of Port Jervis, who has been attending him, was called and advised against him being removed to a hospital as his condition was so critical that but small hopes are held for his ultimate recovery.

Mr. Cramer, who is widely known as a hunter and angler, is believed to have been examining a revolver when the weapon discharged, the bullet piercing his chest and continuing upward just above the heart.

Mrs. Cramer and her daughter, Eleanor, were in the dining room eating breakfast when they heard the sound of the shot. Rushing upstairs they found Mr. Cramer badly wounded. They hurriedly called Dr. Ross who did what he could to relieve the sufferings of the wounded man.

Growing Interest In National Music Week Observance

The fifteenth anniversary of National Music Week—the week beginning May 1—will be well observed in Kingston, where the local committee and the city will receive credit for several events to be held in connection with the Apple Blossom Festival, set for the last three days of the week.

The national committee says that reports indicate that participation in Music Week this year will undoubtedly surpass all previous observances, with at least 2,500 cities and towns participating.

The general interest in Music Week is indicated by the large number of press notices given to the event. Last year, in New York state, one clipping bureau furnished the National Committee with nearly 300 such notices, in addition to those received from local chairmen. These represented 66 cities and towns and outside of New York city. Kingston papers are credited with being among the most generous in amount of publicity given.

The anniversary this year coincides with the 100th anniversary of the introduction of music into the public schools of this country by Lowell Mason, in Boston.

Common Council Takes Action to Complete Sewer

The Common Council met in special session Monday evening at the city hall unanimously adopted a resolution authorizing Mayor C. J. Heiselman to sign and execute an agreement with the New York Central railroad in reference to installing, maintaining and using one reinforced concrete pipe under the railroad tracks to carry sewage to the Rondout creek.

Mayor Heiselman, who had called the special meeting, sent in a communication explaining the reason for calling the session. The mayor in his letter called attention to the fact that the WPA had constructed a storm water sewer in the Ponckhocke section of the city, which is practically complete with the exception of laying this stretch of pipe under the former Ulster and Delaware railroad tracks on East Strand.

The WPA which had gotten so far in building the sewer had then dropped the project as the fund assigned for the project had been exhausted and the city now had to complete the building of the sewer.

In order that the new storm water system could be placed in operation it was necessary to construct this gap in the system, and the railroad company had asked that the council grant authorization to the mayor to sign an agreement.

There was no other business to be taken up and the council adjourned after being in session less than a quarter of an hour.

Another Japanese column was reported sweeping to the south-east of Lin.

Chinese sources said five fresh Japanese divisions had arrived in Shantung from Japan and Formosa, while 26 transports were unloading munitions.

Bud Fete Parley

With receipts from all sources expected to amount to about $500, Roger H. Loughran, general chairman of the Ulster County Apple Blossom Festival, today expressed his appreciation for the efforts of all workers in Saturday's Bud Donation Day drive.

"I am very grateful to Mrs. Whitney, county Legion Auxiliary president, Mrs. Christopher Roche, Kingston president and the general efforts of the 4-H Club boys and girls. I am equally grateful, too, to all the county and Hudson Valley papers who gave us so much advance publicity," Mr. Loughran said.

Total receipts from Kingston, Mr. Harry A. Whitney said, had been reported by Mrs. Roche would amount to about $162.

All county sources have not been heard from, but there will be a complete report in a day or two, Mrs. Whitney informed the Freeman this morning.

Ellenville's Legion Auxiliary, which did not participate in the Bud Donation Day, sent instead a check for $5 to Mrs. Whitney. Housing Measures Offered by Both Major Parties Will Be Subject of Public Hearing
Soon.

Dominant Issue

Other Proposals Offered in Brief Session Today—Adjourns to April 25.

Albany, N. Y., April 19 (AP)—Conflicting proposals for low-cost housing and slum clearance, already a dominant issue of New York's constitutional convention, were stated today for a public airing before the Republican-controlled convocate takes any definite action.

Joseph C. Baldwin, New York city Republican chairman of the convention's housing committee, announced that housing measures offered by delegates of both major parties will be subject of a public hearing to be held "within a very short time." The date will be set as soon as work is added.

Baldwin's announcement, made soon after the convention recessed until Monday night, April 25, indicated the importance of the low-cost housing problem. Both major parties are seeking credit for constitutional changes to add the small income earner.

The housing committee at its organization meeting chose John C. Montana of Buffalo as vice chairman and Abraham Schiff of Brooklyn as secretary.

Legalized Lotteries Sought
Meanwhile, demand for legalization of state conducted lotteries mounted as Delegate James R. McNally, New York Democrat, called to several similar measures already before the convocate a proposal lifting the constitutional restriction against public lotteries.

Other proposals, offered by Delegate Robert Whalen, Albany Democrat, at today's 15-minute session, would:

Provide for appointment of judges of the appellate division of the Supreme Court by the governor as of present.

Repeal the Court of Appeals and appellate divisions to state their reason for decisions in cases where no opinion is handed down.

Insert in the Constitution a definite prohibition against taxation of income from state or municipal bonds.

Virtually all of the 21 committees, which will consider proposed constitutional changes went into session immediately after the recess, indicating they plan to lose no time in beginning debate on the 14 measures already dropped in the hopper.

Debate Next Monday?
Decision of the committees to begin work at once indicated some proposals may be tossed to the floor for debate when the convention reconvenes next Monday at 8 p.m.

Difficulties over patronage, involving approximately $400,000, appeared amicably ironed out after two weeks' discussion with Judge Frederick E. Crane, president, insisting no person already on another state payroll can hold a convention office.

Why didn't somebody TELL me?

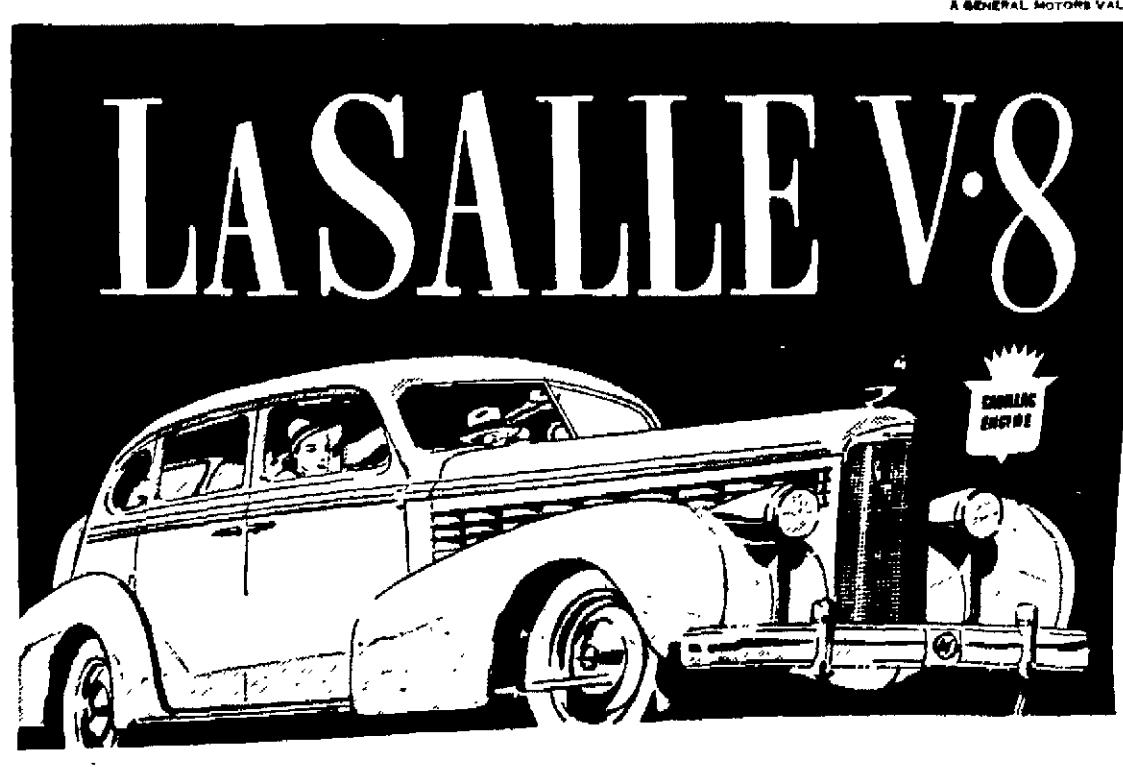

WITHIN the next twelve months, some 300,000 motorists are going to buy cars at or about the price of a LaSalle—and still not get a LaSalle.

But this isn't true! As a matter of fact, you can pay more for certain models of eleven other cars than it costs to get a new LaSalle V-8.

If you expect to pay more than $1,000 for your next motor car—go on up and get a LaSalle. You ought to do this because there is really no substitute for Cadillac quality, Cadillac safety and Cadillac prestige.

Why not come in today for a demonstration?

KINGSTON, NEW YORK, APRIL 19, 1938

CLEANUP WEEK IN KINGSTON

Cleanup Week in Kingston has been set for the week of April 25 and the Board of Public Works will cooperate in making a special drive to collect all rubbish during the week. All refuse in the yards should be placed in barrels and set out on the curb for collection. Where there is a great amount of refuse, householders may telephone the Board of Public Works and a truck will remove the refuse directly from the yard.

Spring is a happy season, with old mother nature re-awakening and many property owners might want to add to the joy by sprucing up their property. It might be well for the city assessor also to cooperate by assuring property owners that they will not be penalized in increased assessments for painting or otherwise improving the appearance of their homes.

The cleanup of properties and yards and re-painting and improving homes might serve still another purpose. These small jobs would provide work for plenty of men who need it. The American Legion Work Bureau will furnish men for home owners and institutions to fill these small jobs. The Legion is cooperating with the New York State Employment Service and either may be called upon to supply competent help.

Cleanup Week will also contribute to safety in the home. There is a real need for this after the long winter months, when many dangerous conditions develop. Now is the time to clear out all accumulations of papers and rubbish from attics and cellars, before they cause a fire. When burning trash and papers outside, an incinerator should always be used. Field grass and papers should not be burned on windy days, and never without close supervision.

NEW WORLD UNITY

A new Monroe Doctrine seems to be evolving from the closer relationship of our 21 American republics—with Canada as a deeply interested bystander. For a century our country regarded itself alone as the guarantor of independence in this New World, because it was the strongest nation. But the children who are the political offspring of the United States are growing up. In international law, of course, they are rated as our equals. We are also coming to treat them so in practical affairs. As they rise to their responsibility, it becomes easier—especially in the present state of the world—to unite for effective action when any of us are threatened by Old World dangers.

Obviously it is better for all 300,000,000 of us to stand against European or Asiatic aggression against any one than for Uncle Sam to bear all the responsibility. This attitude turns the famous old Doctrine into a modern principle which all our neighbors can accept with self-respect, because they appreciate that we are neither patronizing nor endangering them. We in turn gain greater safety from such a bond. Making no "alliances" in the usual sense, we still have more allies than any other first-class power.

HELPLESS CITIZENS

An American foreign correspondent has been making it his business to find out what the "white collar man" in various European countries is thinking about today. In a recent newspaper article he reports on the "average" German.

This fellow, who enjoys beer and kraut, is not pleased at the prospect of war, although he is afraid it is inevitable because "armaments are forged for use." He doesn't hate the people of other nations unless—he confesses—they are Jews or Communists. He knows Germany is short of a lot of good things, including various kinds of foods, but he remembers conditions during the World War and that they were much worse then. He has some rather sensible views about armament, but has no power to make them effective. He says:

"You know, it would be fine if we could hold down on armaments, because the re-armament policy hinders profitable production and export—the only means of bringing money into the land. We can't eat or trade cannon. We—and other nations, too—are only making debts through rearmament which must be paid for some day. It's a cinch war would only set us back again. If war comes, we'll be still poorer."

Isn't it the truth! And what can the white collar people everywhere do about it?

HELP FOR CHINA

"Nothing succeeds like success." An official of the British Treasury told the House of Commons the other day that if British banks asked the government for permission to lend to China, such requests would be sympathetically considered. At the same time it became known that the chancellor of the exchequer was encouraging long-term loans to the Chinese government.

Thus Great Britain, which long stood aloof from the Asiatic war and was apparently resigning China to Japanese conquests, now prepares to come to the rescue. There may have been some secret cooperation before, but the present helpful attitude, while avoiding active participation in the war, is open.

It not only shows a friendly interest in Chinese success, but suggests that the long-headed statesmen who guide the destinies of the British Empire have decided that the Chinese, after all, have a chance to win. The better chance they seem to have, the more Britain will help them. America too, perhaps.

HUDSON VALLEY INTERESTED

The Poughkeepsie Evening Star and Enterprise comments editorially on Governor Lehman's veto of the bill to have the state assist in financing the Ulster County Apple Blossom Festival. The Bridge City paper points out that all the Hudson Valley is interested in Ulster County's festival, because it will be a festival significant not only for Ulster but for all the apple-growing Hudson Valley area.

Let the Governor's veto not deter Ulster county in her plans for the festival. With a little extra work, a little extra ingenuity, Ulster county can have her apple blossom festival. And Ulster will gain added satisfaction from the success of the festival, because it will know that it staged the festival unaided, and entirely on its own resources.

FOLLOWING THE PATIENT

Some years ago an elderly physician was giving advice to a recent graduate. "Don't let your patients get behind in their accounts. I keep right after my patients and advise them to make payments on account if they cannot pay the entire account. This does two things; first, I get the money or nearly all the money owing me, and second, when they need a physician they send for me because, as they owe me little or nothing, they are not ashamed to send for me."

The above is a view of the financial side only. What about following up patients who have been receiving necessary treatment and then stop consulting their physician although further treatment is absolutely necessary to restore them to health?

In recording the fact in the Journal of the American Medical Association that Syracuse University was now giving a course embracing the adequate or complete care of patients, Drs. A. A. Batley and H. C. Welkotten report a dramatic case illustrating that the responsibility of a physician does not end when he diagnoses or finds out the cause of the symptoms and prescribes for these symptoms.

"A middle-aged man was found to have pernicious anemia. The patient had returned once or twice for observation and then failed to appear. When last seen by his physician the anemia had been relieved and the patient had no complaints. About three months later, however, the patient returned, a helpless cripple, markedly anemic and unable to walk because of advanced changes in the spinal cord. He had discontinued the treatment and, of course, the spinal cord trouble had developed."

"It was thus evident that the physician's skill in diagnosis and his knowledge of therapeutics (treatment) were wasted because he failed to find out why it was that his patient did not return."

"Our students are now being taught that the responsibilities of a physician make it necessary for him to make sure that his patient is receiving proper medical attention before he is lost sight of. The reason that a patient is not receiving treatment may have nothing to do with the physician but may be due to some mental disturbance or factors about the home or place of employment. This follow-up by the physician himself instead of by the social workers, useful as they are in most cases, is of great help not only to the patient but to the physician himself."

The Boxwood Barrier

By BLANCHE SMITH FERGUSON

The Story So Far: In love with dashing Gary Brett, Judith Goodloe married Reuben Oliver for his money—only to discover he had kept her a prisoner for years. Through red-headed Gary Rogers, who loves her, Reuben gets work in Gary's lumber camp and joyfully sends for Judith. Through an accident Judith's tent is not put up, and when she arrives Gary provides a cabin for her. Returning from the woods, Reuben finds that Judith has gone to a device with Gary, jealousy and black rage take possession of him.

Chapter 31

'Cruel To Do That'

BACK at Plot 16 Reuben ripped off his necktie, rolled up his sleeves and fell to work as though pursued by a million demons. If he had labored all day he worked with frenzy now. He drove staples. Put up the ridge pole. Unleaded, spread the canvas. Tied it down. Have to take out that stake—

The tent solid at last. Reuben set up the cot. Screwed electric bulbs into sockets. Arranged the outside grill, then, still in the throes of senseless anger, went to Winding Hill cabin and over the protests of Alf took blankets, bundles, his sleeping babies to his own rooftop and put them to bed.

He was driven by rage, pursued by a million demons.

Then he sat outside the tent and stared unseeing into the darkness. Every beat of the drums added to his rage. Judith was down there dancing—dancing with Gary. His mind went back to the day in Maryland he had asked her to marry him. She loved Gary—she had told him so that day. She still loved Gary—once he had been sure he was the better man.

The dance at the pavilion differed from any dance Judith had ever attended. It was as cosmopolitan as though it were on the edge of the Suez instead of the edge of an American forest. There were the usual number of men in white flannel trousers and dark coats. The usual number of women in new or not too new gowns. There were girls carefully veiled, powdered, rouged, with vivid lips and finger nails. Girls whose slinky frocks clung like skin to their figures. There were demure little school ma'ams in comfortable cottons or nuns, serviceable silks. There were cow girls and boys from neighboring dude ranches. There were stars and extras from Hollywood. There were Swedes, Germans and French. There was a young Jack connected with the Embassy bent on enjoying America while seeing it.

The orchestra played a tango. Judith moved gracefully through it. She felt herself coming alive, as a wilted flower freshens after a brief summer shower. Just to dance again! It mattered not with whom. To feel young, free, untroubled. Yesterday, one day before, all the days—with their dull cold and searing heat, were forgotten. It was a fragrant September night. The music was good. She was not quite 23. She wanted this hour—just this hour to go on forever—

Arm In Arm

NOT until the last note of the last dance had been played did Judith think of going home.

"I actually forgot my children," Judith sighed regretfully. "I needed thought. Gary. I feel reborn—although I'm about to start life all over and make a better job of it." She felt courageous, ready to meet and conquer anything. Was it only this morning she had been discouraged, defeated?

"We'll ride tomorrow, Judy. Today really."

HUDSON RIVER STEAMBOATS

These articles are written from the collection of George W. Murdock, veteran marine engineer.

No. 20—Emeline

The 162 foot "Emeline" was a wooden hull vessel built at New York in 1857 with a tonnage rating of 261 tons. At the time of her construction she was named the "Nantasket" and was built for the Nantasket Steamboat Company for service between Boston and the town of Hingham. She was considered the fastest boat in Boston Harbor and was in service there until 1862 when she was chartered by the United States Government Quartermasters Department for use during the Civil War.

In 1865 the "Nantasket," now bearing the name "Emeline," was returned to Boston where she underwent many alterations. She was in use around Boston Harbor until 1883 when she was purchased by Captain David C. Woolsey for use on short runs and excursions on the Hudson river. In the month of March, 1894, the steamboat "River Belle," running between Newburgh and Haverstraw, was sunk off Fort Mont-gomery and the "Emeline" was placed on this route.

In the month of September, 1893, the "Emeline" was chartered by a volunteer fire department of Poughkeepsie, called the "Big Six," and a fire company from Hyde Park to carry the members to Catskill to attend a firemen's convention. Coming out of the Catskill creek on a dark and rainy night, loaded with the firemen, the "Emeline" struck a rock, was partially wrecked, and sank. No lives were lost.

Later she was raised, repaired, and navigated the water of the Hudson river for another 35 years between Albany and points south of Poughkeepsie. In the fall of 1916 she discontinued running between Newburgh and Haverstraw, her master, Captain Woolsey, stating that the sailing days of the "Emeline" were ended. She was laid up at Haverstraw and in March, 1917, the pressure of the ice in the river crushed the vessel and she sank, ending 60 years of service.

Paragraph 24 of Section 81 of the Vehicle and Traffic Law states as follows: "A vehicle overtaking or meeting an omnibus, being used solely for the transportation of children to or from school, which has stopped for the purpose of receiving or discharging passengers, shall proceed to a complete stop, then proceed with caution, providing such omnibus carries signs designating it as a school omnibus, each letter on such sign to be at least four inches in height, one of which signs to be displayed on the front and one on the rear of such omnibus."

Section 20, paragraph 6 of the Vehicle and Traffic Law states in relation to drivers of school buses as follows: "A person who operates a motor vehicle elsewhere than in a city to transport pupils, or pupils and teachers, to and from school shall not be required to have a chauffeur's license because of such operation."

OFFICE CAT

By Junius

Most of us do not take the time or trouble to be truly considerate of others. We are too selfish. Kindness is one of the least considered of all the virtues, yet in the diligent practice of it we could find the solution of most of our troubles.

Insurance Man—You want your office furniture insured against theft?

Manager—Yes, all except the clock. Everybody watches that.

Some have twin beds and some just have twins.

Patient—How soon shall I know anything after I come out of the anesthetic?

Doctor—Well, that's expecting a lot from the anesthetic.

By working hard and denying yourself for fifty years, you could retire and take life easy if it didn't bore you.

Impatient Man (has been put away the telephone)—I believe that I'll go fishing.

Friend—Didn't know you cared for fishing.

Impatient Man—I don't ordinarily, but it's the only chance I have of finding myself at the end of a line that isn't busy.

A year seems like a week when it's measured by the lapse of time between community chest drives.

Barney—I'm sorry to keep you waiting, but I've been setting a trap for my wife.

Paul—Good heavens! Who do you suspect?

Barney—A mouse in the kitchen.

Read It or Not

Forty-one per cent of the moon is never visible on earth.

Father—Did Junior take his medicine like a man?

Mother—Yes, he made an awful fuss.

President Lincoln put the matter right for everybody: "Let us have faith that right makes might, and in that faith let us dare to do our duty as we understand it."

The Church Collection

I bought some gasoline, I went to the show.

I got some new tubes for my big radio.

I bought some candy and peanuts, not bars and ice cream.

While my salary lasted life sure was a scream.

It takes careful planning to make money go 'round.

One's method of finance must always be sound.

With habits quite costly it's real hard to save.

Why, my wife spent six bucks on a permanent wave.

The church came 'round here, it sure made me sore.

It they leave me alone, I'd give a lot more.

They have plenty of nerve, they forget all the past.

I gave them a dollar the year before last.

The newly made citizen asked what we meant in America by the "three R's." A wag told him that these three R's ran all through life:

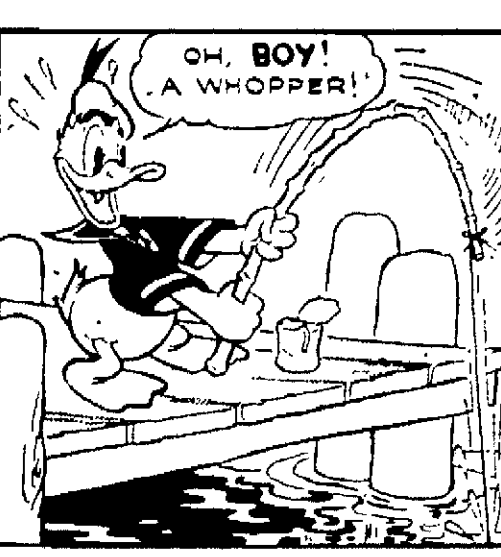

At 25 it's Romance.

At 45 it's Rest.

At 65 it's Rheumatism.

Christadelphians

Pageant Enjoyed

On Sunday evening at 7:30 o'clock the Christadelphians of Christian Endeavor, representing the First Presbyterian Church, Elmendorf street, presented their Easter pageant, "After Three Days," in the church auditorium. More than 200 people were present to witness one of the most enjoyable Resurrection presentations ever to be enacted in this church.

The three most difficult roles were capably filled by Evelyn Winfield, as Miss Carman, a college professor; Dorothy Kopf and Donald Van Gaasbeck, as college students. These three ascended the platform at the outset of the pageant and they not only had the opening lines to say, but also had to sit on the platform under the rays of the strong spotlight for the entire program.

Through the expert work of this trio, the pageant really reached its peak. True, there was excellent acting by Alma Burger, Eltona Burger, Marian DuBois, Barbara Vogel and John Decker.

Without the capable assistance of the following ladies of the church the pageant in all probability could not have been a success: Director, Mrs. McVey; chairman of the costumes and decorations, Mrs. Ward B. Tongue; Mrs. Leon Clark, Mrs. H. T. Decker, Mrs. Claude Snyder, Mrs. Hazel Pirie and Mrs. Charles Schenman. Property managers were Arthur Williams, Claude Snyder and Ward Tongue.

Mrs. Dudley helped to make the small pulpit into a regular college campus. The stage itself was of imitation grass, while imitation trees were spaced in the proper places. The college wall, made up of church screens and blocked paper, also was prepared by the property managers.

Due to the New York Conference, there will be no church services Sunday, April 24, in the Methodist church. The Sunday school will meet at the regular hour. The Standard Bearers' Society and the Women's Missionary Society will hold a joint meeting in the church on Thursday afternoon, April 28, at 2:30. The Standard Bearers are planning to present a play.

Man About Manhattan

By GEORGE TUCKER

NEW YORK—This is a story with a happy ending. It concerns Lucia, who lives on the island and will be 15 on her birthday. I can show you her picture, and perhaps even arrange a production, if you are interested.

Lucia was found to become a dancer. Always she dreamed of swirling gracefully to soft music in a room of flame-colored light. But when she was 11 she was stricken with infantile paralysis. The doctors said it was one of the things that would ruin her. She must be careful not to be over-fatigued. She must be careful not to be over-fatigued. She must be careful not to be over-fatigued.

Lucia was found to become a dancer. Always she dreamed of swirling gracefully to soft music in a room of flame-colored light. But when she was 11 she was stricken with infantile paralysis. The doctors said it was one of the things that would ruin her. She must be careful not to be over-fatigued. She must be careful not to be over-fatigued. She must be careful not to be over-fatigued.

Blossoms Admired By Crowds At Ball

The approaching Apple Blossom Festival, with all its glorious blossoms on display, was the theme used in decorations for the annual charity ball sponsored by the Benedictine Hospital Auxiliary and held last evening in the municipal auditorium. Many admiring comments were made by the large crowd that filled the hall to witness the entertainment and to enjoy the dancing which followed. Sprays of apple blossoms were artistically used throughout the auditorium, and long crepe paper streamers of pastel shades were draped from the center of the steel beams over the dance floor.

Preceding the official opening of the ball Paul Purcell's orchestra favored the early arrivals with a concert of popular dance tunes. The guests were welcomed by John M. Cahill, who praised the work of the Benedictine Hospital and thanked those in attendance for their generous charity.

Mayor Conrad J. Heiselman officially welcomed the crowd to the ball which is annually anticipated as the first big social event to break the winter season. He compared the hospital in essentialness to the fire or police departments and urged the audience to "make a will and set up a trust fund to the Benedictine Hospital. The hospital never receives a souther from its income to maintain the high standards which it has set for itself."

The entertainment at the ball was of a higher caliber and more entertaining than that of last year, and was again provided by Alfred Skea, of New York City. It consisted of exhibition dances by Jose and Monna, vocal selections by the Cosmopolitan Trio, who sang popular and classical numbers, and the boy who bounces, who afforded the audience much amusement.

The climax of the entertainment was Sonia, who entertained with selections on the piano accordion and then called for requests from the audience. From the requests received, she made several interesting medleys, and was recalled to repeat her act.

The concluding number on the entertainment was the roller skating act of the Flyers.

Dancing followed to an early hour with music furnished by Purcell's and Zucca's orchestras.

"THE DIAMOND BRAND"

Y.W. Show To Have Many Leading Roles

Announcement is made of the girls who are to take the leading parts in the production, "Dreamland," which will be presented by 250 Girl Reserves of the Y. W. C. A. on Saturday, April 23, at 2:30 p. m. at the municipal auditorium.

Miss Jane Gildersleeve, a member of the Sophomore Club, has been chosen as the "Dream Girl," who falls asleep at the opening of the play and dreams such fascinating adventures during the next hour.

Since she has just been reading Mother Goose tales, she first meets the old lady herself, this part being taken by Miss Jean DuBois, who introduces her to the famous characters of those childhood tales. This act is put on by the Blue Birds, who are the play lots of the "Y," and their presentation of Jack and Jill, Little Bo-Peep, Mistress Mary, and Puss-in-Boots is most charming.

Other fairy characters also appear, including Snow White, portrayed by Miss Anna Marie Manfro, with the Seven Dwarfs, and a group of red-cloaked maidens in a Red-Ridinghood number.

Next the Dream Girl goes far away, visiting a land of picturesqueness, Hawaiian, and even encountering the famous London Bobbies and going among the peasants of Russia. Each of these groups do attractive native dances, all in costumes, as do many of the friends she meets on her journey, such as the Fanny Skaters, the Drum Majors, the Humorous Pipers, and the dancing and too dance specialties include Misses Gladys Avery, Mabel Brewer, Shirley Dixon, Janet Noble, Julia McArdle, Jean Hamma, Thelma Dabney, Gloria Mitchell and Beverly Sampson, while a special musical number will be sung by the Misses Eleanor Franz, Shirley Fowler, Edwina Schultz, Jeanne DuBois, Virginia Luedtke, Marion DuBois.

The climax of all occurs when the Dreamer arrives at the Apple Blossom Festival, where a group of Tri-Hill girls do a very attractive waltz drill. In this setting the Prince of her dreams comes forward in the form of Miss Dorothy Groves, who sings a love-song and then crowns the heroine Queen of the Festival.

The entire production is under the direction of Miss Ottilia Macchono with Mrs. Raymond Hignall and Miss Jeanette assisting with the music, while the elaborate costumes, which form such an important part of the play is in charge of the following: Miss Lillian Herdman, Mrs. Harry B. Walker, Mrs. A. Noble Graham, Miss Matilda Martin, Mrs. August Franz, Mrs. E. T. Nolan, Mrs. Henry Scheff, Mrs. R. H. Van Valkenburg, Miss Florence Knecht, Mrs. Arthur Monell, Mrs. Joseph Craig, Mrs. A. W. Mollott, Mrs. Joseph Garland, Mrs. Harry Britt, Mrs. Charles Davis, Mrs. Adam Thiel, Mrs. James Rowe, Mrs. Edward Hueston, Mrs. Thomas Noble, Mrs. Edward Luedtke, Mrs. Gertrude Knecht, Margaret Edgings, Mrs. E. PLANT A FRAGRANT HERB BORDER; GARDEN BOOKLET GIVES POINTERS

Enjoy Herbs for Scents, Beauty, Use

Herb gardens the vogue again—and no wonder. They give you cheery flowers, fill the air with aromatic fragrance. The herbs themselves add flavor and value vitamins and minerals to your cooking. Good in homemade perfumes, medicines, too.

Easy to grow herbs from seeds, roots or pot plants. Plant now in rich soil. For a good mixture of beauty and usefulness, choose at least some of the herbs shown in our picture.

First, you see, is the fragrant lavender. You want it for the dainty mauve flowers which you cut in full bloom and dry as a scent for linens and clothes.

Borage? When the starry blue flowers are in full bloom, they're delicious for long, cool drinks. Its young leaves give a fresh cucumber flavor to beverages and salads. The sweetest marjoram you'll like as a seasoning for soups, dressings. Use leaves and stem tips.

Next—mint. What fun to get fragrant young leaves from your own patch—for iced tea, dry, mint jelly. Leaves that dry for medicine had best be before flowers appear.

Nearly all the jolly nasturtiums—flowers, stem tips, leaves, too—you can chop right into salad and store in the dark.

As for the low-growing thyme which makes such a neat trim for meats, dressings, soups. Cut in full bloom, and store in the dark.

Metal Collar Once Used to Protect Hunting Dog
Fancy dog collars, often seen on the most cherished pets, have a most interesting history, according to a writer in the American Kennel Club Gazette. Collars may be traced back to the Fifteenth century and the days when a dog's life depended upon a metal collar.

The greatest collection of such collars may be seen in the Swiss National museum at Zurich, Switzerland; but the oldest collar known to exist is preserved at Basel. The Basel collar is of the moderately spiked type used on the watchdogs chained in the courtyards of the old castles of the Fifteenth and Sixteenth centuries. It is much less awesome and elaborate than many designed for hunting wolves and bears and for the herder's dogs which had to meet all kinds of foes in their role of protector for the cattle.

In the days before the modern rifle, big dogs played a more important part in hunting. They were expected to attack the wild boar, bears, wolves and other animals, not merely chasing them into the open. Dogs able to take care of themselves all have one vulnerable spot—the throat. And so the collars were developed as a protection in close combat with their enemies. Each type of hunting had its particular type of collar. The style used for bear was a vicious affair with heavy spikes, often several inches long extending from a metal band. Wolf hunting collars were of broad brass bands on which was engraved the name and title of the aristocrat owning the dog and often hunting scenes decorated the collars.

Badger Is a Fighter
The courage and fighting ability of the badger is traditional, and he is said to be able to easily defeat any dog less than twice his own weight. He never cries quits and never retreats, the final outcome of the battle always being death to the badger or the death or retreat of the dog. The badger's battle cry is in itself more than a little startling even to a man. Savage snarls and loud, explosive hissings pour from his mouth in a continuous volley when he is aroused. Ground squirrels, gophers, field mice and other small rodents form most of his food, and much of it he obtains by digging into the burrows of these small creatures, who are unable to dig themselves deeper at a sufficiently rapid pace to escape.

Another Notable At Grand Conclave

SIR J. CRAIG ROBERTS.

At the session of the 125th grand conclave to be held in Kingston June 12, 13 and 14, it is expected that Sir J. Craig Roberts, eminent grand senior warden, will be elected to the grand council of the grand commandery. He will be elected eminent grand captain general. He resides in Buffalo, N. Y., and has been practicing law since 1904 and was assistant district attorney of Erie county from 1906-1916. He was knighted in Hugh de Paynes Commandery, No. 30, in 1922, and served as its commander in 1932. He is a past master of Ancient Landmark Lodge, No. 441, F. & A. M., a member of Adytum Chapter, No. 235, R. A. M. He is past district deputy grand master of the First Masonic district of Erie. He has had a long service in the New York National Guard, being commissioned captain in 1917.

Roundout Commandery, No. 52, is completing plans for the church service which is always a significant feature of the grand conclave. The grand commandery and the visiting sir knights will assemble at the Governor Clinton Hotel and parade to the church. The service this year will have historical significance, inasmuch as it will be held in the First Dutch Reformed Church. This church with its historical background will furnish a fitting setting for this annual observance. In the cemetery surrounding the church is buried Governor Clinton, the first grand master in New York state of the grand commandery, serving as such from 1814-1817. Of vital interest to Roundout Commandery and to the Sir Knights of Kingston and vicinity will be the honor of having the sermon preached to this distinguished gathering by Sir and Rev. Clarence E. Brown, its own eminent commander. This is a privilege rarely if ever accorded a host commandery which is entertaining the grand conclave. The prayer at this service will be delivered by Sir and Rev. Charles Brock Ackley, eminent grand prelate of the grand commandery. The pastor of the church, the Rev. Arthur Oudmool, will also assist at this service. It is expected that this will be one of the largest gatherings of Knights Templars ever witnessed in Kingston. The public of Kingston will be admitted to the gallery after the grand commandery is seated.

FELON CHAIN GANG HALTED IN GEORGIA

New State Prison to Reform Old Penal System.

Atlanta.—Substitution of a modern prison with immaculate cells for chain gangs with their "sweat boxes" and cages for living quarters marked the movement to reform Georgia's penal system.

By legislative action, abolition of all Georgia chain gangs has been ordered. In place of the rude, roadside camps, a modern penal system is being formed, centering around the new Taittall penitentiary with every modern convenience of Alcatraz and capable of housing more than 3,000 prisoners.

One county in the northern part of the state has opened a new prison camp constructed of marble. The county sold its antiquated cages which had housed convicts for years when the "marble halls" were opened.

Some counties continue to use cages and shackles, but the new state board of penal administration is attempting to change these conditions as rapidly as "incorrigible" prisoners can be transferred to the "big house" at Taittall.

Reform Started Last Year.
The penal reform movement began in the fall of 1937 when Gov. E. D. Rivers of Georgia and Gov. James Hurley of Massachusetts were exchanging charges and counter-charges concerning Georgia chain gangs.

When the Georgia legislature met in special session in November, Rivers asked for general prison reform. The legislative program was completed by February and a new state board of penal administration began the task of "humanizing" the prison system.

All state terms were notified that the term "chain gang" was stricken from the Georgia statutes and in the future, all convicts would be sentenced either to a "public works camp" or Taittall prison.

County works camps wardens were instructed to discontinue the use of chains and shackles on all prisoners. Plans were made to imprison most of the incorrigibles at Taittall, sending the worst prisoners to a rock quarry which will serve as the "Devil's Island" of the Georgia prison system.

To Have "Clearing House."
State officials said the towering concrete Taittall penitentiary which will serve as a "clearing house" for all prisoners, "will end 50 years of slander against the Georgia penal system."

"Georgia's penal population today is approximately 8,000 persons. Most of these are men who have been confined in chain gangs. Some of the prisoners have served years without ever wearing chains, while others have memories of torturous hours spent in cramped "sweat boxes." Both chains and sweat boxes have been banned.

The old penitentiary at Milledgeville is being renovated for detention of women prisoners.

Under new parole and probation laws which remove clemency powers from the governor's office except in capital offenses, the prison administration hopes to lower the penal population by release of deserving prisoners after they have served reasonable parts of their sentences.

World Farming Entering an Era of Mechanization

Washington.—American farmers have become the most mechanized in the world, according to S. H. McCrory, chief of the Department of Agriculture bureau of agricultural engineering.

It was only 100 years ago that the steel plow and the grain harvester were invented. Gasoline tractors came into general use less than 25 years ago. Electric power on farms is much newer.

"Today there are more than 1,250,000 farm tractors in use and electric power is available on 1,000,000 farms," McCrory said. "Huge combines that harvest 100 acres of wheat a day are common in the great plains."

"There are 85,000,000 acres of the best agricultural land in organized drainage districts and 18,000,000 acres under irrigation in the West. Millions of acres more soon will be irrigated from huge dams now being built."

There is a strong tendency, McCrory said, for engineering improvements to aid the family-size farm. Among recent developments are the handy general-purpose tractors and the "baby" combine grain harvester adapted to small fields.

Despite the increase in the number of machines, McCrory said, the quantity of metal used in farm implements is about the same as in 1917.

He Helps Folks to Spell His Name Right

Broadway Dancer Falls to Her Death

New York, April 19 (AP)—Thais Giroux, 26, a Broadway specialty dancer, fell to her death from a fifth floor hotel room early today after telling a friend that she was "sick and tired of it all."

The friend, John Stoppell, 23, was questioned by police and then released. Assistant District Attorney Carroll A. Boynton listed the case as a suicide.

Stoppell, who said he had known the girl for two years, told officers he accompanied her to her hotel room last night from a Greenwich Village tavern.

He said she suddenly exclaimed: "I'm sick and tired of it all. Goodbye. So long. It's all over."

He said he thought she was joking and left the room. When he returned a few minutes later she was gone.

Fatta Eager to Win, Wants Return Bout With M. Severino

When the colorful Carmine Fatta answers the gong tomorrow night sending him into action against Hoje Rivera at the municipal auditorium, he'll have the experience behind him in the personage of Melio Bettina, contender for the professional heavyweight title.

Bettina, Gene Tunney's choice some day wear the crown, will be in Fatta's corner, instructing him how to battle Rivera, one of George Gainford's New York stars, who recently gave Charlie Perez a severe pasting in his back yard up from Newburgh.

Fatta came up from Newburgh a week to put up a sensational fight with Mario Severino, and according to many he deserved the decision, which they claimed was a silver platter. "He'll probably challenge Severino after tonight's bout."

"I've heard a lot about Rivera," said Fatta, "and I hope I'll be able to outpoint him. I'd like to knock him out, but that's a job because he's plenty durable. What I really want to do is work myself into line for another shot at Severino."

Mario is on tomorrow's card, being matched with Bobby Ryan, Rivera's stablemate. He is boxed the best of them, including Frankie Mirabile, who has gone going well upstate for the three weeks.

Bettina's visit probably will bring back memories of the days he boxed here, at the old Serva arena, as an awkward kid who although labeled for discard as a pilot in his present fight with Jimmy Grippio, of Bea-

Boston and Washington Win American League Openers

(By The Associated Press)

Yankee fans were still upset this morning as they thought of the 8-4 licking the champions absorbed in their opener against the Boston Red Sox yesterday.

Only five hits the Yankees got in six innings off Jim Bagby, Jr., a 21-year-old kid starting his first major league game, and their prized new second baseman, Joe Gordon, whiffed twice. And the mighty Red Ruffing, who won 29 games last season, was slammed from the box.

The Washington Senators, victorious over the Philadelphia Athletics, 12 to 8, in yesterday's hot-tailed opening program, had that got them first baseman Zeke Bonura for Joe Kuhel. The big fellow smashed three hits, including a mighty home run into the left center stands with two on base.

Today's remaining American League openers brought up a few more points of prime interest. The matter of the big trade between Chicago and Detroit, involving a couple of Walkers, Gee and Dixie, Vernon Kennedy and others was due to be threshed out when the Tigers and White Sox clashed. And Mickey Cochrane, had the comforting assurance that Schoolboy Rowe was ready to give his all for Detroit after being laid up most of last season with a sore arm.

There was every prospect that, with a break in the weather, up to 200,000 would witness today's contests, which included two Patriot's Day games between the Yankees and the Red Sox at Boston.

Syracuse, N. Y. — Dan O'Mahoney, 232, Ireland, drew with Vic Christie, 225, Glendale, Calif. (One fall each, cut-off ended match).

Lancaster, Pa. — Gino Garibaldi, 222, St. Louis, pinned Ed Meske, 226, Akron, O. (20-15).

Camden, N. J. — Al Baha, 205, Detroit, defeated Boris Demetoff, 220, Bulgaria, straight falls.

CHAPMAN HITS SEASON'S FIRST HOMER

Ben Chapman, who used to play the outfield for the New York Yankees, is shown scoring after hitting the first homer of the 1938 season in the second inning of the Boston-Yankee opener at Fenway Park, Boston. This drive tied the score and the Red Sox went on to trim the Ruppert Rifles 8-4. A hot boy-shakes Ben's hand as he crosses home plate.

Shorter Season for Bullheads Fixed

Albany, April 19.—Governor Lehman has signed a bill changing the open season for bullheads to be taken from Lake George from the old season of July 15 to May 31, to a new season of July 15 to December 31.

Inasmuch as this bill is effective immediately it means that fishing for bullheads in Lake George which was formerly legal at this time of the year is now illegal.

This bill is not a Conservation Department measure but was introduced at the request of Lake George residents who desire to shorten the season in their lake.

Dizzy Dean Asks Cubs for Raise

Los Angeles, April 19.—Dizzy Dean, the $270,000 pitching beauty acquired by the Chicago Cubs, has asked for a raise, owner Phil K. Wrigley said today.

"I have instructed my assistants at Chicago to tell Dean that if he pitches winning ball this season he will be treated well by the management in regard to his compensation. However, we are taking over the contract just as he agreed when he signed with the St. Louis Cardinals this year."

Dean's 1938 contract is reported to call for about $15,000, some $10,000 less than he received last season.

ROOKIE HURLER ROUTS YANKEES

Jim Bagby, Jr., 21-year-old son of a former Cleveland World Series hero, was the surprise choice of Manager Joe Cronin to hurl for the Boston Red Sox in the season's opening game with the New York Yankees at Boston and he set the world's champions back on their heels to the tune of 8 to 4. Bagby, who had never seen a regularly scheduled American League game, is shown warming up before the start of the contest.

Birk Brewers Five Champs In Chicago A. B. C. Tourney

Chicago, April 19, (AP).—The Birk Brothers Brewing Company five-man squad became the official winner of the 1938 American Bowling Congress team championships today.

The five veterans on the Chicago team posted their winning score on April 5 but it wasn't recognized until the last of their 4-956 rivals for the major prize finished bowling early this morning.

The Birk team also established a new record of 3,241 for the A. B. C. The margin of victory—137 pins—was the largest recorded in the bowling classic.

An alley operator from Moline, Ill., a youngster from Jackson, Mich., and a pair of Indianapolis abstract writers were ready to take their places alongside the Birk's as champions of the bowling world.

At 7 o'clock tonight the thunder of 47 days and 47 nights will cease and the names at the top of the A. B. C. board will be declared champions of the four divisions.

A total of 24,785 of the nation's best bowlers competed for top honors.

Dean Deal Second Biggest —City League Elections

By Joe Kelly

Reckoning Dizzy Dean's price tag to the Chicago Cubs at $250,000 (1818,000 and three players) it was the second biggest deal in baseball annals. . . Only the reported $270,000 that went to Washington with Lynn Lary in 1934 to buy Joe Cronin for the Boston Red Sox tops the sum. . . Dizzy brought Sam Brodson and Branch Ricker. . . Many of the grandstand managers seized upon Brodson's evaluation of Davis, Shotton and Stalback at $55,000 to marry that Dean was worth about $270,000 after his poorest year under the big top. . . Wrigley said: "We want to win the National pennant, then kick hell out of the Yankees."

At Joe DiMaggio continues to hold out on Col. Jake Ruppert for $40,000, the St. Louis Browns stir things up by offering to buy him for $150,000.

Manager Fred Davl is busy promoting the Gene Krupa band to appear at the municipal auditorium, Friday night for the Colonial baseball team. . . After the dance, he'll go to work wiring all parts of the state for exhibition games.

Davl wants to travel this summer. . . His latest hope is to get a franchise in the New York State League for the second half of the season. . . With it all, he has to attend to business at the beauty parlor to keep the home fires burning, or something.

Two big events are slated for tomorrow night. . . At 7:30 there will be election of officers and officials in the City Baseball League, which opens May 10. . . The meeting will be in the city court room at the city hall. . . At 9 o'clock, the regular weekly card of boxing bouts will go on at the municipal auditorium, featuring some of the best scrappers in the Adirondack and Metropolitan Divisions of the A. A. U. . . There won't be any scraps next week on account of the food show at the auditorium, so lovers of the sport will have to get their fill tomorrow. . . Melio Bettina, Beacon's light heavy contender among the pros, will be among the spectators.

If that old Dean-Carlton feud pops up again the Cubs will have worries. . . Couple of years ago, when the Cards traded Carlton to the Cubs, everybody said "twas done because Dizzy didn't get along with Tex. . . Now they're back together again. . . So Lefty Gomez, who didn't let the rail to pitch the opener, has a chance to win the first one for the Yankees. . . And Connie Mack has a chance to back up his hitting with something in the way of pitching—which the A's didn't show yesterday. . . And 11 other clubs have a chance to catch up. . . Yanks can't get over the stuff young Jim Bagby showed in his first major league start for the Red Sox.

As reported here two weeks ago, two-ton Tony Galento is in line to follow the circus into Madison Square Garden. . . But when last heard from, the Newark night club was suspended in New York for talking on beer and rapaciously. . . They're going to try the new yellow baseball in the Columbia-Fordham game next week. . . Frederick H. Bahr, color engineer, says that color can be seen easier and quicker than the white ones, and so will it-on the chances of injuries to batters. . . Barney Ross says he'll be down to 142 for the Henry Armstrong scrap.

Dartball Event Of the Year Set Wednesday Night

The big dartball event of the year is just around the corner as champions of the two divisions in the Church Dartball League put on the finishing touches for the one-night dartball would come to be played at St. James' M. L. Church hall Wednesday night.

Competitors for the title of world champions are the teams representing Trinity Lutheran Church and the Glenford M. E. Church.

The fellows from up country won the title last year, but it is said that they will have their work cut out for them in their attempt to repeat Wednesday night. . . It is the Lutheran boys' first chance at the championship title and their enthusiasm is reported to be at a high point. . . It is even claimed that they have been holding secret practice sessions in the cellar and some fine "inside" play is looked for when they toe the mark Wednesday night. . . The Glenford sharpshooters have also been busy and, believe it or not, it is said that there is not a man on the team who cannot throw a stone with such accuracy, with either hand, that he can hit a chipmunk at 50 yards nine times out of 10. . . With the more accurate darts and at closer range, they should be deadly marksmen. . . The big game will be preceded by a supper, to be served at 6:30 p. m. and interest in the event is shown by the fact that to date some 200 reservations for the supper have been received.

Fight Site to Be Named This Week

New York, April 19.—The title for Joe Louis' heavyweight title defense against Max Schmeling on June 22 probably will be set "some time this week," Promoter Mike Jacobs said today. . . Most boxing critics agreed he would select New York's Yankee Stadium. . . Chicago, Detroit and Philadelphia also have been mentioned.

In his final tune-up for the title match, Schmeling stopped Steve Dwyer of Edgewater, N. J., in the fifth round of the 15-round bout in Hamburg Saturday.

GUESS DODGE PRICE

UP TO $135 MORE..Yet Dodge Is Priced with the Lowest!

So Much Extra Value in Dodge Trucks... That Buyers from Coast to Coast Over-estimate Price

MR. TRUCK BUYER, WHAT IS YOUR GUESS ABOUT PRICES OF THE LOW-PRICED TRUCKS?

"WELL, LET'S SEE... I GUESS DODGE OUGHT TO COST ABOUT $100 MORE!"

"SORRY, BUT YOU'RE WRONG... TODAY, DODGE IS PRICED WITH THE LOWEST!"

"WHAT? PRICED WITH THE LOWEST? YOU SAY? MISTER, I'M GOING TO LOOK INTO THIS!"

Best Proof of Extra Value!

Maybe we have told America too convincingly about the sensational extra-value features built into the new 1938 Dodge trucks. Perhaps people simply can't believe that Dodge can give so much extra for your money. Perhaps it is hard to believe Dodge trucks can include dozens of money-saving features and still be priced with the lowest. Yet it's the truth!

Dodge has genuine hydraulic brakes and any truck driver will tell you they are the best. Dodge has four piston rings instead of the usual three. Dodge has roller bearing universals, exhaust valve seat inserts, Amols steel springs and axle shafts. Anywhere you look... in the cab, under the hood, from front bumper to rear axle... you will see feature after feature, each one of which obviously indicates "extra-quality" construction.

Test a Dodge... Be the Judge!

Possibly you, too, have thought of Dodge trucks as being "worth more" than "higher priced." Today, in most cases, there is only a few dollars difference in the prices of the low-priced trucks. And Dodge is priced with the lowest!

Remember, Dodge makes a truck to fit your needs in its complete line ranging from 1½-ton commercial cars to heavy duty trucks. So, before you buy any truck, ask your Dodge dealer to send a 1938 Dodge for you to try. Phone him today.

Hunter Application Denied by Schrick

Justice Harry E. Schrick has signed an order denying the application of Martin Hunter of town of Ulster for an examination of the ballots of the town of Ulster which were cast at the last general election. The proceeding was brought under Section 333 of the Election Law and was for the purpose of examining the votes cast for office of assessor for the four year term.

An echo of the last election Mr. Hunter secured an order to show cause why he should not be permitted to examine the ballots cast in the five election districts of the town of Ulster. County Judge Traver granted the application for the show cause order and that order was returnable in Supreme Court and was heard before Justice Schrick at special term on December 8, 1937. William A. Kaecher of Poughkeepsie and Kaecher appeared for the petitioner. LeRoy Crosby, who was successful in attaining the office of assessor over Mr. Hunter, was represented by N. Levan Haver, Philip Elting, Republican county chairman, was represented by Louis G. Bruhn, Bernard A. Culleton, Democratic county chairman, appeared by Thomas J. Plunket, and John B. Sterley, clerk of the board of elections, appeared in person.

The matter was submitted to the court on affidavits by Martin Hunter, Michael Tiano, William Schaffner, Robert McGuire and William A. Kaecher for the petitioner. In opposition affidavits were submitted to the court by David M. Ivory, Harry C. Davis, Ralph R. Napp, John Walker, Clifford J. Mooney and David K. Haver.

In the order Just Justice Schrick says, "now on motion of N. Levan Haver for LeRoy Crosby the motion of Martin Hunter is denied." The order is dated April 15.

Following the order to show cause granted by County Judge Frederick G. Traver on December 2, 1937, the matter was delayed for some time by adjournments but was finally submitted to Justice Schrick. The petition states that Mr. Hunter was the candidate for assessor for the four year term on the Democratic ticket and alleges that he was counted 521 votes by the election officials. Mr. Crosby, the Republican candidate for the office, was given 942 votes. The Democratic candidate lost by 421 votes and in his protest alleged that the official canvass showed there were no void, blank or spoiled ballots.

Mr. Hunter alleged that in the election he did not comply with the election law regarding the manner in which the ballots were counted. He also alleged that in that district one void ballot was counted for Mr. Crosby. The petition alleged that in the other four districts the ballots were not counted in the proper manner and that the counting was irregular in that the ballots were not sorted out and unfolded and then placed face down on the table to be counted pursuant to the specific terms of the election law. It was alleged that in one district the ballots were divided up and counted instead of being counted as a unit as the law prescribes.

The decision of Justice Schrick terminates the town of Ulster contest so far as Assessor for the four year term is concerned and Mr. Crosby is declared elected.

Delegates Get Saratoga Passes

Albany, April 19 (Special)—If Conservation Commissioner Lithgow Osborne, of Auburn, delegate-at-large to the state constitutional convention, has anything to say about the water consumption of the 158 delegates, the state beverage fountain at Saratoga Spa will serve as the main source of supply.

Rising to his feet at the second session of the convention, amid the routine work of "getting under way," Osborne offered to the delegates an opportunity to obtain "inspection tickets" to the many baths and fountains at Saratoga which are under the control of the Saratoga Springs Commission.

Although the rules do not permit the issuance of passes," said Osborne, "the Commission wishes to extend to the delegates the privilege of inspection tickets which may be used for the duration of the convention."

"If any of the delegates wish to wriggle, see, taste, feel, drink, or inspect the Saratoga Waters, just let me know," the commissioner continued.

"I hope that the other equally famous institution at Saratoga, when it gets under way in August, the commissioner was referring to the race track at the Spa will do as well by the delegates as the Springs Commission has done tonight."

In accepting the offer of Commissioner Osborne, Chief Judge Frederick E. Crane, president of the convention, noted that the voice of "Ave" was "the loudest heard during the entire session tonight."
